SHAAAAAH -

THERE IS ONE MORE BODY DOWN HERE...

CHIEF! WE'VE FOUND ALL FIVE OF THE BODIES!

THEY'RE ALL DEAD!

Chief.

...

Have you checked it?

Yes. This is the place that the deceased right-parliamentarian frequently used.

And there are witnesses saying that he was headed this way the night before the Dae-jong Yul.

The discovered bodies also were confirmed to be those of the bodyguards who resigned.

The degree of decaying roughly matches the time of their death.

A man with a serious expression, wearing a tall straw hat with a red band and a red sash over a light-colored tunic. He is looking slightly to the left. The background is a textured, light brown wall.

Chief.

Everything...

Is exactly as the Prince has said.

Episode 46. Testimony

CHANGBAI

If the corpses weren't fake...

Does that mean...

That his testimony was real?

There will be...

Five corpses.

Your Highness,
I'm sorry to say this, but...

Even if the bodies were found,

we won't be able to connect them to the right-parliamentarian
Mum-jung.

The only connection between the bodies and
right-parliamentarian
Mum-jung is Your testimony alone.

And even if that really were his doings, unfortunately the victims are no longer in this world to tell the tale.

Mum-jung would only have to deny the fact, and the case would be over.

I am not an investigator,
Chief of Police.

Furthermore, I have no intention of intruding into your jurisdiction.

However, since my most trusted man has been framed and has not yet been cleared of his charges...

I only wished for you to take a look at the investigation from a different angle.

Think of it, Kangyeol has been taken in as the culprit only by the blood-stained clothes and a flower branch =

But these bodies are much more conclusive evidence...

If the corpses of the bodyguards are found, then there is a possibility that the right perpetrator is Mun-jung is involved in this

I am not asking to give Kangyeol a special treatment because of my bias to him.

Neither am I asking to arrest Munjung right away.

Whether it be "Jeweller's rightparliamentarian"
Man-Long.

Dr. King's only
"more advanced".

It means that both should be investigated as equally guilty of the crime.

Chief of Police...

You told me that you could not ignore the evidence in front of your eyes.

And you also told me that the truth will be revealed in the end...

XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

I will trust...

Your abilities,

Chief of Police.

SHAAAH

This is troublesome...

Of course, I also thought that the
right parliamentarian
Maarlung was acting very strangely

But for the bodies that could put him in the line of the wasps to really turn up like this...

The trial is in two days

I can investigate
the right parliamentarian Mun-jung
tomorrow only

Even if he is the real culprit, will it be possible to investigate him within one day's time, and gather further evidence?

If I am unable to do so, then Kangyul will be executed without a possibility to clear his name...

Truth...?

What is truth?

Is truth telling the answers that those who framed me want to hear?

.....

The truth...

The Heavens
are on our side...

To dig up again...

The bodies
that Kangyul
has killed...

That's right. As they have framed Kangyul with Mun-jung's doings,

We will frame
Mun-jung with the corpses Kangyul
has killed

We will be blaming each other with each of our own guilt.

Based on the Chief of Police's personality, he will not overlook such incriminating evidence.

Even though he would not trust my testimony, he will definitely look into it and he will find five corpses.

At the time, the
right parliamentarian
and I agreed to bury the corpse there.

We did so because the now
deceased right parliamentarian
had been saying on me, and was afraid of being accused of blasphemy against Buddha.

And I did not wish for my movements to be discovered.

I did not foresee that I would be using these corpses in such a way...
But I intend to use everything available to me.

XXXXXXXXXXXX

A close-up of a man with dark hair and a red flower tucked behind his ear. He has a serious expression and is wearing a dark jacket with a white collar.

He did not foresee that the right parliamentarian would be assassinated.

And yet he is leading the situation in his favor by using all resources at his disposition.

He's cool-headed and quick-winded.

A close-up of the same man's face, looking slightly to the side. The red flower is still behind his ear.

The best fit to be an assassin isn't Kangyul or me.

But Prince
Hui-Yeon.

So, we do not have a lot of time
given to us.

The night that the Chief of Police discovers the bodies.

Dan-Hyang.

It is your turn to move.

DON'T LET

DASH...

...on the night
that the corpses
are discovered...

...you want me
to kill the Chief of Police!

I don't want you to really kill him.

Just make it look like as if it is a real assassination.

Dan-Hyang,
after you attack
the Chief ..

.. hint to him that because he has come too far into the matter,
he must be eliminated
before he digs any deeper.

Make him believe that by following my testimony, he is on the tracks of the real assassin.

But to tell him that I've come to kill him and then leave without doing so...

How am I supposed to do that?

...give him an opening.

Since his primary job is to investigate, he has had few opportunities for physical combat.

However, even Chiefs of Poles are part of the Imperial Army.

If you show him an opening, the Chief will undoubtedly take the chance to counterattack.

Moreover, with the trial so close there are bound to be guards around him.

I've seen that. As soon as they notice your conversation with the Chief, they'll come running.

When that happens, flee.

While attempting to assassinate the Chief of Police, you're caught off guard by his assistants and the guards that show up to pursue you. The assassination attempt is foiled so you run away...our goal is to make them believe this.

*****

That's easier said
than done.

This request is more difficult than a regular construction.

That is why am
I asking you.

Dan Hyung, This is something only you can do.

After that...

HE'S UP THERE!

FOLLOW HIM!

DON'T LET HIM OUT OF YOUR SIGHT!

WE MUST CATCH HIM!

HE JUMPED DOWN FROM THE ROOF HE'S NEARING TOWARD THE WEST GATE!

CIRCLE

OTHER SIDE AND PREPARE HIM!

WE'LL SURROUND

YES,
SIR!

HE'S GOT NOWHERE TO RUN NOW!

WE CAN OVERTAKE HIM JUST AROUND THIS CORNER!

CRASH

I heard some shouting. Is there a problem?

.....

You're not in my division,

Why are you out here at this time?

Yes, sir. His Majesty the Emperor has ordered the left and right parliamentarians guarded.

This is...

...the office of Right Parliamentarian
Mun-Jung.

Episode 49. Search

The Chief of Police! At this time of night!

Yes. I do not know the reason for his visit, but he was with a few officers.

He wishes to see you now, sir.

It's late and raining heavily as well, so what was he doing with his officers?

...escort him in.

Yes, sir.

Chief, The rightparliamentarian Ming Jang will see you now.

Ah...all right.

Back-Haven. While I am inside with the right-parliamentarian Mun-Jung, go with the guards and thoroughly search the surroundings of the office.

Yes, Chief.

Continued

To go as far as to come here with soldiers at such a late hour in the pouring rain...

What is the matter,
Chief?

Right parliamentarian
Min-jong.

You know very well that I am currently in charge of a very important case.

However,
this case is full of suspicious things.

Everything is moving too fast.

Even though they are quite convincing pieces of evidence, the flowering branch, bloody garments, and the murder weapon alone have been used to decide Kingyul's execution already.

I arrested Kingyul myself,
but it was only to question
him as a possible suspect.

I still haven't determined if he really is the assassin or not.

.....

Are you still thinking about that? My, my... that's just like you, Chief.

I know that this case is giving you a lot of pressure, but there's no need to overthink things.

You say that flowering branch alone does not determine the culprit, but think about it.

A red flower tree is very rare these days, and it isn't even the flowering season yet.

At this time of the year, who within the Palace would artificially bloom those flowers, if not the culprit?

If there is another culprit as you say there is, then name him.

After the incident, have you found a suspect other than Kangyul?

Until moments ago, I...

...was investigating with the assumption that you, rightparliamentarian Nam-jung, are one of the suspects.

....?!

As a result, I became the target of an assassination.

Thankfully, my soldiers heard the commotion and came to my aid, so the assassination attempt failed. From there, we chased after the assassin.

However, we lost sight of him right here.

Chief Jung-Ho. Are you implying that I was the one who sent the assassin? I'm utterly displeased.

I was not even aware that you were investigating me as a possible suspect in your case.

I do not know why you doubt me, but it's simply impossible.

I hear that you are already searching near my office...

If you end up finding nothing, I shall ask you to take responsibility for your mistake.

Intruding a parliamentarian's property because of a baseless doubt is something that I will not take lightly

Understood?

SHOOOOOOWWWWWW

Very well.

SHAAAAAH

Did you search everything carefully?

Yes, sir. We didn't find anything conclusive around the office, sir.

Since it keeps raining, there are no traces left...

We aren't sure
if the assassin has even entered the premises.

I value your real highly, but you've made a mistake this time.

What's the deal, Doc?

We still haven't finished searching within the office.

The Chief was investigating me as one of the suspects of the case

Where on earth did he find clues leading to me for that collection? Did I mistake only leave any traces behind?

"Believe me, I'm not a detective!"
"I'm just a detective!"

No. That's impossible.

I didn't leave any evidence behind, and even if I had, it wouldn't incriminate up to me.

All of the work this time was done through Mu-Ryang after all.

If he had really found something and followed it, he should have gone to Mu-Ryang first, not me.

But to have come as the first, without going to Mu-Ryang...

...Could it be??

Is it Prince Hui-Yeon's scheme....?!

It's a rain-soaked mask and an empty scabbard...

They were hidden deep inside the study!

THERE IS NO WAY...!
WHY ARE THOSE THINGS IN HERE?

CHIEF JUNG-HO, I DO NOT KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT THIS!

Kingryul also said that he did not know about the flowering branch and the bloody garments.

However, I arrested him
as the primary suspect

So, right-
parliamentarian
Mun-jang...

I will do the same with you.

...GRIEF! BUT IT PROVES THAT THE ASSAULT CREATED IN NEED TO HAVE AND LEFT THE ITEMS AHEAD!

THOSE ITEMS DO NOT IMPLY THAT I HAVE ACHIEVED SUCH A THING TO HAPPEN!

Of course. I will leave some forces behind to search for him, as well.

However, rightparliamentarian Mun-jong, I am not arresting you merely because we've found the traces of my assassins.

Before I ended up here, there have been a number of occurrences.

I'm sure you can explain many of those to me.

I will listen to the rest at Headquarters.

WHY WOULD I

RIGHT-PARLIAMENTARIAN

BEFORE THE ONE
JUNG YOU MENTIONED, WHY DID YOU HOLD A MEETING WITH ALL OF THE RIGHT PARLIAMENTARIANS EXCEPT FOR THE DECEASED ONE?

WENT IT BECAUSE YOU KNEW THAT HE WOULD VOTE

*This is obviously Prince Hui-Yuan's doing,
but he isn't one to leave evidence behind!*

The trial is only tomorrow, so how did this...?!

You have a troubled expression,
right-parliamentarian
Mun-jung.

...?!

Y-YOUR HIGHNESS??

THUD...

THUD...

WHY HAVE YOU COME HERE...?!

I have been looking for you since I heard that you were arrested
as a suspect.

...so, I requested that the Chief allow the two of us to speak in private.

Your Highness,
there must be a misunderstanding.
Chief Jung-Ho is making a grave mistake.

Prince Han-Yoon!
You're caving
with me...!!

The Chief must have come to this conclusion after much thought.

Even though the police force was created to arrest anyone who disrupted the order of the Palace, regardless of their social status...

As time passed, that meaning has faded away.

Now, no Chief would dare to even think about arresting a parliamentarian.

So to arrest you in such a situation, Chief Jung-Ho must have thought it through.

That may be, but I am being accused of a crime that I know nothing about.

Someone must be framing me...

Enough.

Don't we already know, right parliamentarian
Mun-jung?

The things that each of us has done.

Righteous warrior Miao Feng.
I've always found you regrettable.

Your deep loyalty that is different from Chief Jung-Ho's.

Your drive to carry out orders using every method available.

That all of this...

...was devoted to His Majesty the Emperor alone was regrettable.

Did His Majesty order Kungyu's execution
in order to tie me down?

And did he order
the execution to be carried out as quickly as possible to keep me quiet?

.....!!

...How frightening.

I expected him to catch on, but to infer His Majesty the Emperor's intentions so precisely...

...Even though you know that much, Your Highness,

you've still caused all this trouble to save Kangyu?

BY THE WAY...

If so, Your Highness the Prince, the method you chose is not a good move.

There are too many variables.

If we assume the worse...

His Majesty would execute both Kungyul and me.

Your Highness would be able to get rid of me, but you would not be able to save Kungyul.

That's not as bad as it sounds.

With a more serious, I'd be rid of the Emperor's right-hand man, the Great Jeweler's right-hand man.

Your Highness,
are you saying that it would not matter to you if you lost Kangya?

Isn't you under the wrong impression,

Right? Pottanararion
Mun-jung?

Of course, I've favored Kanggul and kept him with me, but...

What makes you think I'd save
him?

That's right. The moment you are arrested, your duties as a parliamentarian

In such a case, the law of the Court would be to assign those duties to the predecessors.

arrest?

The Police Department has yet to give us the details of the investigations.

Was there a reason for this hasty transfer...

...left-parliamentarian
Hong-Chan?

Yes, yes, yes, yes.

Ma-Ryang, since you are a student who will one day be a parliamentarian, listen closely.

The transfer of the documents is necessary...

When the rightparliamentarians won the Court's political wars, yes, the left-parliamentarians were robbed of our rightful duties. All we are doing is getting back what what taken from us.

Everything
needs a balance.

While the concentration of power might seem like an advantage to the right-parli-mentarians, in the long run, it becomes poison to them.

And as time passes,
that poison will eat away
at Jushin.

We are not robbing
the right-parliamentarian
Mum-jung just because he has been arrested.

We are merely reclaiming the duties to their rightful owners.

I believe that you will understand our deep meaning behind this.

In order to win
the Dae-Jung-Yul, I absolutely needed the left-parliamentarians'
support.

I had to get their unanimous voice within that short amount of time.

So, even before the Dae-Jung-Yul, I gave them a promise.

I would give them
a hand in recovering the left-parliamentarians'
rightful duties from the right-parliamentarians.

Then all of this is co...

Now do you truly understand the situation?

I did wonder how the prince was able to organize all of this by himself despite Kingrod's imprisonment.

So the left-parliamentarians were behind this...!

.....?

Right parliamentarian Man-jing. If the trials were to commence in this state...

This case would be cancelled as your political revenge, unless you can rid yourself of the charges of assaulting the right-
parliamentarian.

Of course, His Majesty the Emperor could arrange things in your favor, but it won't be easy.

After all, he did order the culprit of this case to be punished harshly while in the presence of all of the left and right-parliamentarians.

His Majesty the Emperor's pride wouldn't allow him to take back his own imperial orders.

In short, your only way of escaping punishment is to be cleared of all charges.

However, if...

...you accept
my offer...

I will exonerate you from the charges.

Does Prince Hui-Hao really have thoughts of abandoning Kangni?

Given the time limit, getting rid of my charges would make him unable to free Kangni from the false accusations...

Your offer,
could it be...

It is exactly as you have thought,
right-parliamentarian
Mun-jong.

Become mine and move only through my orders.

.....

There is no need to explain to me your values of being a faithful servant.

Right now, Jaushin cannot be bound by such things.

You've served at the Emperor's side
for so long...

You probably noticed before I did, and know better than I do.

If this continues,
Juushin will collapse.

I truly value your abilities very highly

A close-up, high-contrast image of a green-skinned character's face. The character has dark, spiky hair and is looking directly forward with a serious, intense expression. The lighting is dramatic, with deep shadows on the sides of the face and bright highlights on the forehead and nose. The character is wearing a red garment, visible at the edges of the frame.

So, since I will exonerate you from your charges...

Follow me,
right-parliamentarian
Mun-Jung.

The document transfer...

Regardless of its reasons, the way they glance at the first chance is just like that of a wild dog's...

Will tomorrow's trial continue as planned?

Yes. His Majesty has heard of the rightparliamentarian's arrest, but has not changed the schedule.

And the man who attacked Chief Jung-Ho, have you found him...?

The Police force is still searching for him, but because of last night's heavy rain, there was hardly any evidence left behind.

However, since Chief Jang-Ho twisted the assassin by twisting his right wrist, we are narrowing down our search onto those who have an injury on their right wrist.

With the huge number of people in the city, it will be impossible to find him before the trial...

Prepare to go to the Police Headquarters.

Episode 52. The Promise

There, all done.

It's not a serious injury, so it'll be fine if you don't swell it.

But how did you get hurt like this?

... I think I twisted
it when I accidentally fell down.

More importantly,
please keep quiet
about my injury.

If it gets out that I've been injured, I won't be chosen as the Emperor's handmaid for his birthday.

Hmm.

It'll probably be healed before then,
but there may be some disadvantages.

All right.

To injure your hand to this extent, throwing knives...

This can't possibly happen by trying to catch a rabbit... You lied to me.

CHAPTER 10

This is why I didn't want to teach you knife throwing.

But I taught
you, because you told me you wanted to hunt
for yourself.

And because I thought you needed to protect yourself when I'm gone.

A character with dark hair and a red flower tucked behind their ear. They are wearing a light-colored garment with a dark blue collar. The background is a soft, out-of-focus landscape with blue and yellow tones.

Are you still thinking of taking revenge?

I understand all you've said to me, Master.

I also understand how you felt when you said it to me.

However...

I cannot forgive them.

STAYING OR GOING?

No matter how long I stay here grinding my teeth in anger, they still won't know anything.

They'll be standing above the people, looking down on them.

It shouldn't be so!

AT LEAST ONE OF THEM SHOULD KNOW WHAT THEY'VE DONE!

IF I DON'T TAKE MY REVENGE ON THEM, THEN I MIGHT AS WELL HAVE DIED ON THAT DAY, BY THE HANDS OF THE JINSHIN ARMY!

I NEVER THOUGHT OF A DIFFERENT LIFE, A DIFFERENT ME, AND I DON'T WISH FOR THEM EITHER!

You don't wish for a different life?

Even now, war ravages every corner of Joushin.

A war that waxes and wanes,
but is otherwise endless...

Even in this very moment, countless children are becoming orphans due to war...

For us to be able to live quietly here in the mountains is also an extremely lucky thing.

And despite knowing this, you'd still choose a life that would stain your own hands with blood?

THE DEAD CHILDREN WOULDN'T COME BACK
EVEN IF YOU TAKE YOUR REVENGE!

NOTHING WILL CHANGE!

.... I just want the Emperor's death
in itself.

That's impossible.

.....?!

The Emperor's
assassination is impossible

No matter how hard you train, you won't even be able to get close to him

The chances of you dying a horrible death are higher

I'll find the Joushin
general who burnt down
your village.

Take your revenge on him. And with that, your revenge must end. You must live your life afterwards.

Promise me,

That your revenge
will end there.

If you do, then I will train you.

To be an assassin.

But how did you get hurt?

... I think I landed on it when I fell down.

... Lies.

Just a moment will do, Chae Jang-Hi.

I know I'm asking
much of you, but...

I'm not keeping you from visiting the right-parkamentarian Mum-Jung because I don't like you.

Don't get me wrong,
Mum-Jung.

It's because there's already someone with him.

Eh? Father has a visitor...?

Father...?

Are you talking about the right-confusion-master, Mun-jong?

Y-Your Highness!

Prince Hui-Yeon...!

이

Episode 53. Trial (1)

And you are...?

I am Ma Ruyang, a student here at the court, Your Highness.

He is the son of the right-parliamentarian Ma-fang.

He wished to visit him before the trial.

Ma Ruyang, the son of right-parliamentarian Ma-fang.

One of the court's students, ah...?

I happened to see Dami-Hyang
at that time.

And she was with a man with an earring
in his left ear.

Is it a sense of condemnation...?

Ma-Ryung, I can't give you a lot of time.

The Prince's visit already went on too late into the night.

I met with Prince Hal-Yoon before coming in.

I heard that you two exchanged a few words.

Yes.

The spy man responsible for my imprisonment came in person.

Prince Hai-Yuen talked about my office's documents being manufactured, is that true?

Yes. Despite all been moved to the left parliamentarian
Heng-Chuan's office.

Prince Hai-Yuen...

He grew so quickly.

Prince Hai-Yuen had a proposal for me.

He told me he would clear me of all charges if I followed him.

He said he's made it so that the suspicion will fall back onto Kangari again.

Based on what Prince Hui-Yuen said, it seems that the real culprit who killed those guards was Kungyu!

And he framed
me with it.

Anyway, Prince Hui-Yuen ordered me to deny all charges and insist that Kungyu is the real culprit behind everything.

If I do so, then Prince Hui-Yuen will prove that Kungyu killed the guards and clear me of the charges.

Of course, all this is under the condition that I follow Prince Hui-Yuan in the future...

So, did you agree to his terms?

He didn't leave me much of a choice, considering
the situation.

I must comply,
for now.

Hazy-

Did the Prince already return to his chambers?

Did you think he came to the Police Headquarters to set you free?

His Highness met with the right-parliamentarian Man-Jung, and left immediately.

You better not put your hopes up.

How could His Highness,
the Great Jaeholmi's Imperial Prince, ask me, a death-row convict, to follow him?

I was already sentenced once for being a double agent.

You can't be sure
I won't just betray you and run.

...Well. That could happen.

...?

It can't be that you saved me without a plan in mind!

I don't need men who follow me only because I know their weaknesses.

What I need is loyalty
without a price on it.

Therefore, I don't read a plan. The moment you left that jail, you were technically free.

If you wish to leave and forget my kindness,
go ahead.

Such a man isn't qualified to be with me.

However, keep this one thing in mind, Kangrai.

The moment you decide to follow me and become my subordinate, I will never cast you away nor abandon you.

HIS IMPERIAL MAJESTY, THE EMPEROR!!!

Welp...

I, Chief of Police Jung-Ho, meet the Great Jinshin's Emperor,

His Majesty.

Let the trial begin.

이 러 다

Episode 54. Trial (2)

... Therefore, we presume that the right-parliamentarian's assassination is not the deed of the assassin Dan-Hyung, but a political revenge orchestrated by right-parliamentarian Min-jung.

The right-parliamentarian
Mao-jung had threatened the deceased right-parliamentarian
by telling off his bodyguards.

But after seeing that the right-parliamentarian would not yield to the threats, he went ahead and led the meeting with the remaining right-parliamentarians.

TM? Here, the Chief rescues the Dao-jung-Yol.

As a consequence,
with that vote from the right-parliamentarian, the Dao-jung-Yol's results were affirmed.

and the deceased rightparliamentarian conveyed his intent to retire to the right-parliamentarian
Mao-jung first thing after it ended.

This is presumed to be the accused right-parliamentarian's attempt to take responsibility for his actions and justify his position.

In face of the
right-parliamentarian
Mun-jung's possible
movings in the future.

Wrong. He did not fear me, but the Emperor.

He only told me
because he was too afraid to tell His Majesty himself.

Prince Min-Joon has meticulously woven together unrelated circumstances as if they were related to each other

On the other hand, the evidence that imprisoned Kangwal could have easily been manipulated, fact that lowers their reliability

Therefore, Chief of Police Jang-Ho, have concluded that this is a conspiracy made possible by making use of the doings of the assassin Cho-Hyung.

Because Kim, yul holds no particular position or influence
within the court,

he is also the perfect victim to be framed and passed rid of afterwards.

If you're willing to trust and to follow me, then trust that everything was the assassin Dan-Hyang's, which would be Kangmul's doing.

If you do so, then I will prove that Kangmul is indeed the one who killed those bodyguards and clear you of the charges.

Think carefully on this one.
As you know, the Emperor would never go out of his way to save you.

But rather, he will choose to execute you along with Kangmul.

Prince
Hui Yuan...

I will do as you say this one time, but I will definitely get back at you in your moment of crisis...

YOUR MAJESTY...!
I AM INNOCENT!

HOW COULD I ASSASSINATE
THE RIGHT-PARLIAMENTARY, EVEN ON THE PRETEXT OF APPEARING POLITICAL SPIONAGE?

CHIEF JUNG-HO SAYS THAT THE POWELLING BEACH CANNOT BE A LEGITIMATE PUNCH,

BUT WHO WITHIN THE GOVT
POSSESSED SUCH A BEACH
OTHER THAN KANGYU?

FURTHERMORE, HE IS A MAN OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN!!

THIS IS CLEARLY THE ACT OF BAN-HYUNG, WHO HAD MADE THE SAME ATTEMPT RIGHT AFTER THE WAR.

KANGYU IS NONE
OTHER THAN BAN-HYUNG,
YOUR MAJESTY!!

The culprit in this case would be Dan-Hyung, who's made an assassination attempt against the Emperor, correct?

And are you saying that Kangpal is that Dan-Hyung?

Yes, that is correct, Your Highness...

Your Highness...

It is clear, you say...

The Chief's and the right parliamentarian's claims are completely opposite, so what is it that is clear?

It is as His Majesty says, Your Highness.

The conclusion that I have come to is that Kangyul is innocent and had been framed.

However, since right-parliamentarian Munjung claims that Kangyul is the assassin Dan-Hyang, his claim is completely opposite from my conclusions.

That's right,
Chief Jung-Ho.

If it were as the right-parliamentarian
Mun-jung says, then this castle's culprit would be the one who planned the Emperor's assassination at the end of the war, the assassin Dan-Hyang, who would be Kangyul.

and who would have infiltrated into the Palace again and assassinated the
right-parliamentarian.

However, even in such a scenario, Kangyul cannot become the culprit.

Because, at the time the war ended, Kangyul was...

A soldier in the Juushin Army.

...What?!!

Why, what is he talking about?!

Your Majesty, How could Kangai have attempted to assassinate Your Majesty as a soldier living along the borders of Isewaka, not being allowed to even leave the military base camp?

In other words...

Kangyul and Dan-Hyang cannot be the same person.

In the end, whether Chief Jang-Ho's conclusions were right, or whether right-parliamentarian Mun-Jong's claims were to be true...

In both cases, Kangyul would be innocent.

TH, THAT CAN'T BE!
YOUR MAJESTY!! THAT IS IMPOSSIBLE!!

HE CANNOT POSSIBLY BE A SOLDIER OF THE JINSHIN ARMY!!

... Fufu

What are you saying, rightparliamentarian
Mum-jung?

At that time, the commander of the platoon Kangyul belonged to...

Was none other than yourself.

Fufu... Lar's son.

What kind of person is he...

Do you remember what I've told you when we first met, that I would stay the serpent's head?

Yes. You also said that I'm merely its tail.

Mum-Jung is that serpent's body.

He's different from the tail. The serpent's head will never cut off its own body.

*The Emperor's
handyman, who will never be abandoned.*

He's someone...

Who will never become one of my men.

.....

... Why do you have such an expression?

Is there something odd about rightparliamentaries (Man-jung)?

Actually, before I was condemned to the death row, I was a soldier of the Jeonshin Army, under his command.

...Really? Then, why didn't he recognize you?

One would remember his own soldier being condemned to the death row, especially under the charges of being a double agent...

I also thought that he would recognize me, but it seemed that he did not remember.

It seems he isn't aware of me being condemned to the death row altogether, since all the soldiers who were with me were annihilated.

Because to General Man-jung, I was just a nameless soldier among countless others.

My words from back then

이러다

Episode 55. Trial (3)

We cannot do that.

It is not important whether the order was issued from the Police Headquarters, access to this place is restricted only to the men who have been chosen by His Majesty the Emperor himself!

Furthermore, how do you hope to find the culprits who tried to assassinate Chief Jung-Ho in a place like this?

Spouting such nonsense!

I am merely acting as the higher-ups
ordered me to do.

Chief Jung-Ha has ordered us to search meticulously, regardless of the place.

This place cannot be an exception.

How thick-headed.
I could already not believe that you were searching for a person with an injured right arm among so many people in the Court.

But to look for the assassin within the court ladies' quarters...

I will personally
talk to Chief Jung-Ha.
What is he?

Right now, Chief Jung-Ho is attending to the right-performant-rior's assassination trial under His Majesty's orders.

... I will go back for today.
However, in the end, this place shall also be searched.

THE END OF THE WORLD

That night, when it rained...

I woke up around dawn, Yoon-Hwa wasn't in her bed.

And long after that, when she came back, I could hear water dripping down to the floor from her soaking clothes.

She must have been outside of the quarters.

She didn't injure her arm after a fall

On that rainy night, Yoon-Pheo injured
it outside.

If it is as they say,
then the one with the injured right nerve must be...

The one who tried to assassinate Chief Jang-Ho?

And that's Yeon-Hwa?

At the time, the commander in charge of Kangyul's platoon—

Was none other than yourself.

BUT, YOUR HIGHNESS! I WAS A GENERAL COMMANDING
THE BIGGEST PLATOON OF THE JINSHIN ARMY!

IT ISN'T POSSIBLE FOR ME TO REMEMBER
EACH AND EVERY ONE OF MY SOLDIERS!

Of course, it's not something I would have expected of you. However, it is a hard fact that Kangyul fought as a soldier in the Jaoshin Army.

If you have any doubts, then ask him any questions.

Kangyul can answer not only about 'the right-parliamentarian Man-fung', but also about 'the General Man-fung'.

.....

In the light of everything that has been said, it is difficult to say that Kangyul is the culprit.

Therefore, Kangyul's verdict for this case's trial is 'not guilty'.

Heaven, Kangyul...

I will ask you
a question.

.....

Yes, Your Majesty.

If you have fought against the northern barbarians

As a soldier of the Juushin Army,

Have you participated in the "Battle of Mt. Gau"?

YOUR MAJESTY,
KANGYUL WAS...

I DID NOT DIRECT
THE QUESTION TO YOU!

Kangyul: The people gathered here have served in the Japanese Imperial Cause for a long time.

Especially the right-paramilitarymen, who have participated in the war against the northern barbarians.

You would better not think about lying here.

Now, answer me, Kangyul.

Did you participate in the Battle of Mt. Gori?

.....

I was at Mt. Gau
at that time.

All courisans,
court ladies,

And soldiers are to leave this place.

SWISH-

Yes, Your Majesty.

When I brought Kangyul out of prison, I made sure to dispose of all documents related to him. There aren't any records of a death row prisoner named Kangyul.

Furthermore, since Kangyul's death row sentence was not on the Emperor's orders but because the protests of the families of the deceased soldiers in the first place,

It was possible for me to bring him out of prison without it being heard by the Emperor.

It was clear...

Truly spotless.

And that...

Does not make any sense.

The Battle of Mt. Gao is different from the other battles. The soldiers were given 'an important mission' and were saving Mt. Gao.

Although they were ambushed and annihilated by the barbarians due to a double-agent revealing our plans to them...

But their name list is still preserved within the Juushin's Imperial Palace.

There is a name list of the participants to the Battle of Mt. Gao!!

Why?! Out of countless battles during the war, why is the Battle of Mr. Cao the only one with a list of names...?!

If what the Emperor said is true, then it's not just about disposing of his traces anymore!

Karegid, You said with certainty that you have participated in the Battle of Mr. Cao as a soldier.

However, your name was not on the list of the participating soldiers.

If it is true that you have fought the Battle of Mr. Cao...

Why is your name not on the participants' name list?

Your Majesty, forgive me for saying this, but

During the war against the northern barbarians, countless people have either died or gone missing.

the Battle of Mt. Gao is surely no exception, and there may be some survivors or participants whose names were omitted.

The possibility that Kungpall's name has not been recorded is high enough.

Hui-Yuan, You are completely unaware of the particular situation that the participants of the Battle of Mr. Gao were in.

I am certain that there were no names left unrecorded.

In the first place, the squad of soldiers taking part in the Battle of Mr. Gao weren't that great a number,

And as I said before, they had 'an important mission' to fulfill.

.....

Their goal was to go over Mr. Gao's defenses behind the enemy lines and instigate confusion.

Since it was a mission that was almost impossible to survive from,

I had ordered to make a list of the participants' names in order to remember their deeds in the future.

However, they were defeated by an enemy ambush,

And the Japanese soldiers'
name list became the name list of the war heroes of the Battle of Mt. Gao.

Therefore, Kangyu, the reason your name is not found in that name list despite all that, can only be one.

Because you were the Juushin Army's spy.

After all, it is a spy's job to not leave any trace or documents of him behind.

A Joseon Army's spy who participated in the Battle of Mt. Gasa...

Kangryul, isn't you...

THE ONE WHO WAS SUPPOSEDLY DECEASED AT THE BATTLE OF MT. GASA,

THE DOUBLE-AGENT?

It's a checkmate. If Karyeol being a Jurchen Army's soldier turns out to be a lie, then his defense against his identification as Da-hyang will crumble...

However, if he insists that he was part of the Jurchen Army, then he will be accused of being a double-agent.

A close-up of a man with a serious expression, wearing a black hat and a green uniform. He is looking slightly to the right.

Of course, the Emperor couldn't throw away Mumjong so easily...

*It's as if the Emperor and the Prince are fighting, with each offering their right-hand
man as the bait*

A close-up of a man with black hair and a serious expression, wearing a red collar and a green uniform. He is looking slightly to the left.

It's my mistake. The Emperor isn't a variable I can completely control.

*I had to take the risk
in this gamble, but for the participants' names
not to arise!*

I might as well have revealed the existence of the double-agent who was believed to be dead from the Battle of Mt. Gao.

Answer me, Kungyall!

Why is it...

Answer me, Kangyul!

Why is it...

That you can be here?

Great Emperor,
Your Majesty,

I truly was at Mt. Gau as Jinshin's soldier.

Kangval..!

The reason my name is not recorded on that list

Despite the fact I have participated in that Battle...

Is because I was an "irregular soldier."

...An irregular
soldier?

How could such a thing exist during times of war?

*An irregular
soldier under the Jinshin Army...*

It can't be... he raised a private army!!

*...Great Emperor,
Your Majesty!*

I dare ask you this!

Does Your Majesty know!!

Just how General
Mun-Jung ..

Earned his victories!!

흐 러 지

Episode 57. Mt. Gau

Did you hear? The assassins' team that was sent out last time, they didn't come back. I think they failed the assassination.

It's a plan that's impossible to come back from regardless of the success or anyway!

That's why General Mun-Jung put us apart from the regular Army. So that even if we die, nobody would know about it.

If we succeed in assassinating the enemy leader, then the regular Jushin Army under General Min-jung swoops in and defeats them...

On the other hand, if we fail, the Jushin Army does not move, and another team chosen among us irregular soldiers is sent after another enemy leader.

A plan that loops infinitely...

Either way, he does not concern himself with our safe return.

The number of escaping soldiers among the irregulars is increasing.

Though it is as dangerous to run in a time of war, this lack of concern is exactly why they escape.

There are also many who were caught and executed, too.

WE'RE...

ALL DISPOSABLE!!

It's nothing to be surprised of. I knew it, but chose this anyway.

And actually, thanks to General Min-Jong's method, the Jawsan Army has a clear advantage over the enemy.

We just traded it with the lives of the regular soldiers.

The war must end, even by resorting to such methods.

THAT'S IMPOSSIBLE!

OF COURSE, WE COULD TAKE OUT THE ENEMY INSTANTLY IF WE WENT THROUGH AT.
GIVE AND ENGAGED BEHIND THE ENEMY LINE..!

HOWEVER, THOSE SOLDIERS WOULD BE COMPLETELY ISOLATED

General Wen-Jung...

What are they talking about in such a place?

Keep your voice down. They won't be able to make it through Mr. Cao at any rate.

What do you mean...?

A large enemy troop was sighted yesterday, crossing over towards Mr. Cao.

They are probably waiting to ambush us as soon as we make it over the mountain.

Then isn't that the more reason to discard this plan!! With the plan revealed to the enemy like this,

And if they were to fight us using Mr. Cao's geographical features to their advantage, we cannot hope to defeat them—

The enemy already knows that we are planning to cross Mt. Gau.

Since they mobilized their entire defense line to Mt. Gau, it means they're pretty confident about it.

Those barbarians may even have their own spies within the Joshibin Army.

We'll use that to our advantage instead. We shall actually send in part of our troops to Mt. Gau.

And while they fight each other, Joshibin Army's main force will strike the enemy's rear force.

But, General
Maojung, that plan
has two faults.

One is that we are disadvantaged in both our numbers and the geographical position to do battle with the awaiting enemies.

The other one is that if we split our forces, the chances that the enemy will suspect something are high.

The enemy must also be aware of the rough number of our troops, so if only a small number of them cross over Mt. Guo, then they will realize our two-fronts strategy.

But if we were to increase the number of soldiers who cross over Mt. Guo to prevent that,

Then the main force will not have enough soldiers, so the probability that it will fail is also high.

Of course, these are easily producible facts. At least outwardly, they must have enough soldiers.

That is why, along with part of the Jewish Army's soldiers...

I will send in all of the remaining irregular soldiers.

We will...!!

What is he thinking?
We've only been trained to maneuver, so we're not adept for battling against many opponents, nor do we have the experience...

The war's outcome is almost certain. It will end soon.

The existence of an irregular army is only going to be a stain
in my record.

Their existence is a hindrance to mine...

The fact that I brought up war orphans into trivial assassins will only raise a scandal when the war is over.

If any left-parliamentarians were to hear about it, then they'd certainly have me questioned, forgetting that it was such a plan that brought us to victory.

Therefore, the irregular army...

Will be wiped out during this upcoming battle.

What...?!

All of the irregular soldiers and part of the Jaoshin's force combined won't be enough to win against the expecting enemies
at any rate.

We will be disadvantaged in numbers as well as topography in this battle...

BOSS: THE EMPEROR

So the irregular army will disappear in history without anyone knowing about them.

Then afterwards, we only need to report to the higher-ups that there was a double-agent within our soldiers.

That our plan to cross over Mt. Gao had been revealed to the enemy lying in ambush.

The dead.....

Don't speak.

Everyone died

And I'm the only survivor.

Episode 58. Trial (5)

General Mun-Jung.

Everyone died

And I'm the only survivor.

I didn't care for my life as long as the war ended.

So even though I knew that all the soldiers crossing Mr. Gau were just bait, I did not say a word.

Because I intended for this strenuous war to end at any cost.

Right-performantarian Man-fung, are Kang-so's words true?!

Ending the war is not enough a justification to those atrocious actions!

KNOWING ABOUT THE ENEMY WAITING TO AMBUSH
AT MT. GAN, AND YET HIDING THAT FACT TO YOUR OWN SOLDIERS

AND, AS A COM-MANDING GENERAL
STILL LETTING THEM
CROSS THE MOUNTAIN

WHETHER THEY BE REGULAR OR IRREGULAR SOLDIERS, TO TREAT YOUR OWN SOLDIERS AS BAIT TO THE ENEMY, ARE YOU NOT ACQUAINTED AS A MAN OF THE MILITARY?!

FURTHERMORE, YOU BLAMED IT ALL ON A NON-EXISTENT DOUBLE-AGENT TO HIDE THE EXISTENCE OF AN IRREGULAR ARMY!!

!!
.....

LEFT-PARLIAMENTARIAN HONG-KAM! YOU'RE ABLE TO SAY SUCH BARE THINGS BECAUSE YOU DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT WAR!!

WHAT WERE YOU DOING WHEN JOSHUA WAS FIGHTING OFF THE NORTHEAST BARRAKHISH?

I'M NOT SAYING THAT THE SINGULARLY LEFT-PARLIAMENTARIANS SHOULD WIELD ARMS AND FIGHT!

HOWEVER, YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND THE FACT THAT I HAD TO DEVISE ALL KINDS OF STRATEGIES ONLY FOR THE SAKE OF JINSHIN'S VICTORY!!

A DIRTY TRICK THAT TAKES ADVANTAGE OF THE WAR ORPHANS?

A COLD-BLOODED STRA-TEGY THAT THROWS ITS OWN SOLDIERS AS BAIT?

DO YOU THINK THAT YOU COULD SWEEP THE BATTLEFIELD WITH SUCH NAIVETY?

IT IS SUCH EASY-GOING THINKING AS YOURS THAT HAD ENDLESSLY STRETCHED THAT WAR!

ONE THING IS CERTAIN,

JINSHIN STOOD VICTORIOUS FROM THAT ENDLESS WAR!

ALL THANKS TO THOSE METHODS!!

This gathering is not meant to question the right-parliamentarian Mum-Jang's wrongdoings during the time of war.

However, we have stumbled upon an unexpected problem during this trial.

However, Your Majesty!
The past actions of right-parliamentarian Mum-Jang are not to be taken lightly.

And even if we were to overlook that point for now, that testimony made it clear that Kangpal was, at the time, with the Joushin Army.

THE KING HAS DECIDED HIS

Your Majesty.

It seems that the verdict should be given now, since there are no further testimonies to be given.

I revoke your position as a
right-parliamentarian.

And order you to be exiled and placed under house-arrest.

What...?!

Your Majesty! If he were any other man, he would have been sentenced to death a hundred times out of a hundred trials.

This is not a problem to be solved with such a light punishment!

Silence. The power to give the verdict rests with me.

Moreover, I have not looked over Mun-Jung's sins with grace.

Because he has made great contributions in the past, I have taken note of it and thus decided his sentence.

... This silly serpent! He himself had given the order to severely punish the culprit, but he forgotten about his own words!

How much lower will he fall? Doing as he pleases even more and more...

It's frustrating, but it can't be helped...

I'll be content of getting rid of Ah-mei-jang from the court.

He is innocent.

Did you hear! Did you hear that! Today's aria's musical!

His Majesty
invited Man-Jang's
right-parliamentarian's
partner and exiled him.

While the Prince's servant was found innocent!

Is that true?

... So it succeeded.

Thank you for the good work, Chief.

Now we can finally relax.

Is that so...

...what?

Is there something that is bothering you?

Something doesn't feel quite right. But I do not know what that is yet.

No matter how I look at it, it's certain that Kangyul has been framed. And it also seems true that right parliamentarian Maeng-jong has ordered the assassination of the
right-parliamentarian...

Yes. That is why the trial realized in Kingpin's palace and the right parliamentarian Mun Jung's sentence.

Of course, it's unexpected that such a scandalous case would be wrapped up with only an exile and house arrest, but haven't it ended well over!!

...hmm.

What about the man who
that assaulted me?

I gave order to report
any other findings to you while I was participating in the trial.

Yes, I did get some reports.

As you've ordered, we are conducting a search throughout all the personnel
within the Court.

However, since there are too many people within the search range, it will take more time.

And also...

The lady in charge of the court ladies' quarters is refusing to cooperate with the search of the princess.

Her reason is that men are forbidden from entering the court ladies' residences...

However, it seems that since the Emperor's birthday is drawing near, she does not wish for the court ladies to be involved in troublesome affairs...

Episode 59. Enemy

How are you doing so far?

I'm doing well.
You needn't worry
about me.

Your Highness
has asked me twice.
I'm truly grateful.

You should thank Dan-Hyang rather than me.

Although I planned your marriage, I couldn't have even attempted it without her.

Yes. I will be visiting the main Palace soon, so I will give her my thanks then.

For today, you should rest and recover.

The birthday festival is in a few days now. It's time to focus on our main goal.

However, Your Highness, About the night-performance on Mun-Jung.

...?

Even though he will be leaving,
as the place of exile, there must be a number of people in the Court whom he can easily influence.

Plus, wasn't he an especially influential character among the right-parliamentarians?

At the time
right-parliamentarian Man-jun was arguing for his reasons to fight using every method available...

Most rightparliamentarians seemed to agree with him. They are former soldiers who have participated in the war together, after all.

Yes. They will definitely support him even after right-parliamentarian Mun-jung has left the Court. It seems the Emperor had that in mind when he gave such a verdict.

The right-parliamentarian Mun-jung must be burning with desire for revenge, especially since I tricked him and stabbed him in the back right on the day of the trial.

He knows that the best way to get his revenge against me is to lend his help to the Emperor the best he can.

So he will continue to work for the Emperor.

And this is something I found out quite recently...

...?

He has a son.

He's a court
student, and his name is Anja-Ryung.

A court student, could that be the one I saw...

Yes. You said you saw Chun-Hyang with a man wearing an earring on his left ear.

*Since all students wear earrings, we could not be sure that the man you saw was in fact Mama-jung's son, Ma-Ryang,
at that time...*

When I talked about him to left-parliamentarian
Hong-Chan,

It seems that it
was indeed him.

He says that the one overlooking the court ladies in the main Palace is the court student Mu-Ryeong.

Then Mu-Ryeong must know Dan-Hyang.

Nam Do-hyang!

He probably only knows her as "Yum-t-two".

His...

Of course, a court
student is in no position
to be a threat to me.

But since we've sent away Hsueh-fung on exile, his impression of us won't be favorable.

For now, we must think of him as the Emperor's man.

He is also...

An enemy of ours.

The right-parliamentarian
Mun-jang will be looking for colds the day after tomorrow, as soon as dawn breaks.

*****

It's a letter from rightprofessormentation Mun-jung.
He told me to deliver this to an Ma-Ryang.

Yes. The right-performer-marian has explained to me while consuming me with it.

... When did he write this letter?

Was it all prepared regardless of the trial's outcome?

No. He wrote the letter after the trial's verdict had been given. Things were finalized after the trial, as well.

I saw the rightparliamentarian Moon-jung talking with His Majesty the Emperor before he began to write that letter.

The remaining
right-parliamentarians have all agreed to it...

And not only that, but the Emperor has also given his consent, so as a matter of fact, it is all settled.

So you needn't worry about anything, and participate in the next Doe-jung-Yul.

Right-parliamentarian
Mu-Ryang.

For there to be a survivor from the irregular army...

I asked Karyūki
about the Battle of Mt.
Gao because I was not aware of the existence of
an irregular army.

Since it was the perfect person to frame him as the double-agent.

That was a miscalculation on my part. I truly did not think that there would be any survivors.

and I gave in to the left-parliamentarians' provocations...

No matter. It's already been done...
We cannot null over it any longer.

Although the results turned out like this, most right-parliamentarians understand that it was a necessary method to bring an end to that endless war.

Only the left-parliamentarians cannot understand it.

I assumed Your Majesty would sentence both Kungel and me to death.

In the past, I would have rather died than to be a hindrance to Your Majesty...

It is perhaps that I grow cowardly with age, and with the times of peace that followed the war, I grew fearful of death.

It seems that Prince Hui-Yuen knew and used that to his advantage.

Of course, Han-Yoon would have had a major setback if Kang-pul and you had both been sentenced to death...

However, that would have been a greater inconvenience to me. Rather than that, it is better to have you killed and placed under house arrest.

However, since you were a symbolic existence to the right-parliamentarians, they will be greatly disheartened.

Therefore...

...?

*We need a new symbolic

Episode 60. Bud (1)

... His Majesty suggested it first!

The Temple

His Majesty already knew of my intentions to nominate you into a right parliamentarian if things were to go well.

Furthermore, it means that he deems you capable of replacing me as a symbolic figure and have all the ability to act in my stead.

I am truly grateful and honored that His Majesty values me so...

But then, what will become of my current responsibilities?

.....

But since the birthday festival is so near, I'd like to wrap up with my current responsibilities just until the end of the festival period, along with the newly cast, good duties.

I don't understand.

Comparing the education of the court ladies to the responsibilities of a night-parliamentary, it should be clear as day which one is more important...

Could it be, you have feelings for a court lady?

.....

... It isn't what you fear...

I only wish to fulfil my duty until the end, rather than forfeiting in the middle of it irresponsibly.

... I can't afford to lose you.

In any case,
I won't be here
tomorrow when the day breaks...

I trust you have good judgment, so you may do as you wish.

However, it should interfere with your duties as a right-parliamentarian.

As you know very well, a parliamentarian of your young age is unprecedented.

Not everyone is nominated as a parliamentarian
even with recommendations, and most do not obtain those even if they were to be older students than yourself.

But despite that, all right-parliamentarians have given their agreement and His Majesty has given his consent as well.

Now no one will deny the fact that you're a right-parliamentarian.

Therefore...

Make sure you aren't a nuisance to His Majesty Ma-Ryang.

MA-RYANG'S EYES WERE OPEN.

Yes, I will keep that in mind.

The left-parliamentarians are speechless.

For that court student Mu Rong to become a right-parliamentary. He is just too young.

It hasn't been but a few years since he was selected as a court student.

It happened much earlier than I thought.

It was right after the trials that I had to be wary of Mu Rong, and think of him as an enemy.

But who would have thought that the Emperor would act so swiftly...?

There are no precedents of nominating a parliamentarian when one's been a student for only a few years...

This is certainly the deed of right-parliamentarian Min-jung.

The left-parliamentarians have no say in the right-parliamentarians' matters, but this isn't the right thing to do.

Hence, I do not think that this kind of nomination is right, either...

However, the final say in this matter lies with His Majesty, and since he has already given his approval, I cannot do anything about it other than observe the flow.

In the long run, this will be what destroys the right-parliamentarians.

The other court students will stay silent for now, as the Emperor has approved of it and all the right-parliamentarians have agreed to it.

But that won't last long.

They will begin to doubt the parliamentarians that they had faith in and followed for so long.

And...

Joushin's decline will only accelerate.

Everyone is to go back to their own rooms right now, and remain until further notice.

All dances from this hour
on are cancelled.

Episode 60 But No End
